

Further Relations of the Tatbead Family!

Pamela Myers -
Irish brownie

Jessica Kuligowski's
Polly Tatbead

Martha has introduced
Pinky the Flamingo -
he's a lawn ornament
for the Tatbead family.

Martha has now sent a
gnome for the Tatbead's garden. His name is Gnomie! This garden is going to win the gold medal at the Chelsea
Flower Show in 2007.

I am happy to announce that on
President's Day
(February 19th)
Abraham Lincoln
has arrived on a
visit to Tatland.
Another of Martha
Ess's offerings.

Martha's leprechaun
with his pot of gold
arrived in my inbox
today. She asked me to name him but I had to ask Pamela Myers as
she's our Irish tatter.
Her suggestion was Seamus (James)
pronounced Shamus.
So, meet Seamus O'Tat
the leprechaun!!!

Another tatbead from Martha. Isn't this just the cutest Easter
rabbit you've ever
seen? The Tatbead
family are delighted
but the rabbit will
have to hide those
eggs pretty quickly
before Master and Mistress Tatbead find them. Thanks again, Martha.

Elaine Law sent this frog who is now searching for the tatbead family.
They've gone on holiday
but not left a clue as to where they've gone!!!
Last seen heading
towards Heathrow
airport. Where HAVE
they gone? Any guesses?

There has long been a rumour that 'Elvis lives'. Here's the proof of where he's living now - in Tatbead land!!! Another of Martha's creations has now joined the list of wannabe tat people!!!

Martha's been back in Tatbead land again. Where DOES she find the time, I ask myself!!! Anyway, Santa's arrived early in this neighbourhood so I hope that the children have behaved themselves and deserve a visit from him!!!!